

NEW PROPOSALS FOR BONDS MADE BY COMMITTEE

Board of Supervisors Receives
Outline and Asks for Report Friday Night

$100,000 purchase city hall.
$100,000 for roads.
$100,000 for sewer extensions.
$100,000 for water extensions.
$ 80,000 for parks.
$480,000 municipal bond issue.

That is the outline of the new proposed municipal bond issue that was presented informally to the supervisors last night by the finance committee and appeared to meet with unanimous approval.

The finance committee was instructed to bring in a final report at the next meeting, to be held Friday night. If a plebiscite on the question is to be held this fall it will be necessary for the supervisors to authorize it within the next ten days as the law requires 60 days advertised notice of the holding of a special election. It has been proposed to hold the plebiscite on the day of the general election, November 8, in order to save expense.

Supervisor Daniel Logan, chairman of the finance committee, pointed out last night that the municipal election will be but a few months later than the November election and if the $480,000 bond issue authorized by law in one year is not sufficient to meet the city's needs another $480,000 can be voted in the spring.

Reduced Estimates Asked
Harry Murray, manager of the water works, will be asked by the finance committee this week to submit a schedule of the work he believes it advisable to have done under the first allotment of bond money to his departments. Similarly Supervisor Ben Hollinger, chairman of the park committee, will be asked to cut his requested $100,000 for new parks and improvements to the public baths to $80,000.

The $100,000 for roads is to be applied to a concrete road from the foot of the Pali to Koolauloa point. The total cost of this road is estimated at $275,000 by the city engineer, George M. Collins, but he says that part of it can be done for a start, relying on future bond issues to continue the work.

The money for a city hall it is expected to spend on the purchase of the Kapoli building, if available. A report has reached a member of the board that the building can be purchased for that amount and the committee believes it advisable to buy it if it can be purchased for that price, as it is in a location that will increase in value as the years go by. Inquiry is to be made this week and if the building is not for sale the $100,000 will be re-apportioned among the other projects.

NO MILITARY ROAD APPROPRIATION WILL COME THIS SEASON

"It is killed for this session, but that does not mean that we have given up hope," said Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in discussing the fate of the congressional appropriation for a survey of a military road for Oahu. "Our representative in Washington, George McK. McClellan, had the promise of the chairman of the military affairs committee that it would go through and we are very much disappointed that the appropriation was not made."

SIX OAHU ARMY MEN WILL GO TO BORDER

Verification of cabled orders coming from the War Department several weeks ago and printed by the Star-Bulletin, directing half a dozen Oahu army officers to the border for duty, was received by mail Tuesday. The men affected are all field officers. Their names are: Lieut.-Col. William W. Forsyth, Maj. Edmund S. Wright and Capt. Julius A. Benjamin, 4th Cavalry; Col. Harris L. Roberts, attached to the 2nd Infantry; Lieut.-Col. Carl Reichmann, 25th Infantry; and Maj. Charles E. Tayman, 1st Infantry.

show that he was in harmony with them in things political.

But, the governor told the committee, he had been "thrown down twice" as the result of these overtures.

According to members of the committee, the governor said that he is still willing and anxious to come into the party ranks and do the best he can for its welfare. But he added that he did not care to make any further overtures to the party leaders, for the reason that he might again be "thrown down." He is taking every precaution, he said, to prevent any rupture in the party, and regrets the fact that he is sick in bed and therefore was unable to attend the meeting Tuesday night.

He concluded by saying that President Wilson is the head of the Democratic party and that the governor is his representative here in Hawaii.

At the conclusion of the conference the governor promised to send a statement to the meeting, but no communication was received. A large number of those at the meeting expressed their approval of the chief executive's attitude, while others, apparently not willing to express any opinion, demanded the letter.

The meeting was presided over by William McClellan, chairman of the county committee. L. L. McCandless, candidate for delegate, declared that the Bourbon voters must recognize both the central and county committee, adding that as far as he has been able to learn, there is nothing but harmony in the ranks of the Bourbons. He laid stress on a statement that those in the party who have differences, whether they be individuals or factions, should "bury the hatchet" and unite in supporting the party's candidates.

Remarks also were made by Harry Irwin and C. J. McCarthy, territorial treasurer. McCarthy said he disagreed with McCandless on the harmony question, declaring that the party is not harmonious and will not be until there is a fusion of the two factions.

The resolution which outlines the needs of harmony in the ranks of the party is, in part, as follows:

"Whereas, the territorial biennial election is approaching in which the Democratic party in Hawaii expects to take an active part as it has done in years past, and fully realizing the fact that the utter failure of the Republican party in Hawaii to fulfill its pledges to the electorate declared in its platform and through public speeches in the campaign of 1914, the voters will ignore the party's pledge at the coming election, and the Democratic party will have an opportunity to whip the Republican party good and hard; and

"Whereas, the Democratic party's success at the coming election seems to be assured and the party workers are very hopeful of such success, yet no victory can be won by a party that is divided against itself; and

"Whereas, the party workers hear and know with regret that the leaders of the Democratic party are not in harmony among themselves, and that if such inharmonious among the party leaders shall continue to campaigning time it will be an impossibility for party workers to do their work, the electorate will view the party with a feeling of distrust and non-confidence, and its candidates will be subjected to humiliations, therefore be it resolved, by the party workers

"that it is absolutely necessary to the success of the party that the party leaders should come together and arrange matters with a view to settling their differences so that harmony in the party shall prevail and the party as a whole will be enabled to go before the electorate with a united front."

GASOLINE BLAZES UP

Mistaking gasoline for kerosene, a family living near the park on upper Fort street brought out the Central fire department this afternoon when they touched a match to some oil-soaked clothing in hopes of eliminating bedbugs. The flames soared high for a moment, but by the time the policemen and firemen reached the scene prisoners working in the park had extinguished the blaze with little damage resulting and no injuries.

received. Especially noticeable would be the discontinuation of railway service he felt now, since so many freight steamers running between San Francisco and New York have been called into the Atlantic for military purposes.

"Pineapples have been piling up on us after canning more extensively than ever before, due to shortage of bottoms out of Honolulu," says Thomas, "and if this strike should endue for some time we'd be walled in here with cases."

Thomas says the strike probably would not advance the retail price of canned pineapples in the states unless it continued longer than the wildest predictions because a large amount of the 1916 crop has already been sold and shipped to the states.

F. W. Macfarlane, president of Libby, McNeill & Libby, was not in his office when called by the Star-Bulletin relative to the effects of the threatened strike, nor was William L. Gifford, manager of the Hawaii Preserving Company.

Snipping Men Optimistic.

Local shipping men and importers do not seem to view the railroad strike situation on the mainland with deep concern. While they all admit that if the strike continues for any length of time Hawaii will be seriously affected and a large number of items of merchandise will run short, they all believe that something will be done before the situation becomes acute. Prices may go up somewhat on a few supplies, but it is expected that the market will remain firm and there is but little fear expressed concerning the food supply.

J. F. Hamburg of H. Hackford & Company said today that the strike would most seriously affect building supplies and drygoods, as these are the only things that are at present scarce here, but he did not believe that prices would appreciably increase on foodstuffs. Other merchants seen today said practically the same thing.

Freight Already Accumulated.

One thing which will relieve any shortage for at least a month is the large amount of freight now accumulated at San Francisco waiting shipment to the islands.

John H. Drew, manager of the shipping department of Castle & Cooke, said today that there is now in San Francisco over 20,000 tons of freight waiting to be placed on steamers for the islands. Of this amount, 12,000 tons are in the freight cars waiting to be unloaded and the remainder in the warehouses. This alone amounts to three full shiploads and beside that there will have to be taken into consideration the local San Francisco freight and that which is brought by the river steamers from inland California points. Freight from the northwest can also be brought to San Francisco by steamer.

Three-quarters of the freight offered to the Southern Pacific will be delivered, in the event of a general railroad strike, according to officials of the road interviewed by J. R. Spalding, manager of the San Francisco office of the Spaulding Construction Company. He arrived on the Matsonia for a short stay in Honolulu and talked with a number of railroad and steamship men on the strike situation a few days before leaving the coast.

"They have signed agreements with many of the men now working for the road that they will not go on strike," Mr. Spalding said in a discussion of the subject in his office this afternoon. "Most of the men who have signed the agreement are well along towards the time when they will be retired on a pension and do not want to be taken from the list as they will be if they strike."

In addition to the men now working the entire retired list of the railroad lines will be called out, Spalding was told.

"All of the transcontinental lines will be able to handle at least half of the freight offered and will run at least one transcontinental passenger train a day, according to what I was told," Mr. Spalding said.

Letters received in Tuesday's mail from the San Francisco office of the company expressed no fear of the results of the strike.

Local contractors will not suffer much if the strike is called, W. T. Spalding, manager of the company here, declared. "Practically all of the material we use comes from coast cities and can be transported to the steamship docks by motor or barge," he said. "But little structural steel is used here. That is about the only material that has to come from the East. Reinforcing steel is rolled in San Francisco from Chinese ores. That will be easy enough to get."

The regular meeting of the High School Alumni Association has been postponed until September 8 owing to the championship swimming meet.

president in his message, yesterday and the proposals of Senator Newlands.

EMBARGOES ON PERISHABLE FREIGHT.
Many railroads today declared embargoes on perishable freight, so that they will have none in transit when the strike order takes effect. Thousands of tons of shipments have been refused by the railroads under orders from their traffic managers.

The roads are also warning passengers that there may be troublesome delays unless the passengers arrived at destination on or before Sunday night. Passengers buying tickets calling for trips taking them into Monday are told that speedy arrival at destination cannot be guaranteed.

FREIGHT RATE INCREASE POSTPONED.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved an order postponing until September 30 the proposed increase in the transcontinental freight rates.

ARTILLERY COMPANIES ORDERED HOME.

Another precaution against possible delay and trouble in moving passengers was taken today when the war department ordered to their home posts 28 Coast Artillery companies which have been on duty at the Mexican border. National guardsmen will replace the artillerymen, who will be hurried back to their posts before the strike date arrives.

CARTER OBJECTS TO NEW FREIGHT RATES OF 1-1.

Parker Ranch Trustee Requests
Utilities Commission For Hearing; First Protest

For the purpose of considering the first protest filed against the proposed new schedule of freight and passenger rates formulated by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, and intended to go into effect September 1, day after tomorrow, the public utilities commission is holding a special meeting this afternoon. It began at 1 o'clock.

Alfred W. Carter, manager and trustee of the Parker Ranch on Hawaii, one of the most extensive shippers of cattle, sheep and horses in the territory, is the protestant. His letter of protest reached the commission late Tuesday, a short time after it had adjourned. The special meeting was called for this afternoon because of the short time left in which to consider the new tariff.

Carter, through his attorneys, Holmes & Olson, requests the commission to give him time for consideration of the proposed new schedule of freight rates. He asks the commission to defer the time of allowing it to become effective, until he can submit his case and state his objections. The proposed rates would increase the cost of shipping the ranch's livestock, beef and mutton to Honolulu.

After getting together this afternoon with Attorney Clarence H. Olson, representing Carter, and J. L. McLean, vice-president, Norman E.

Gedgo, assistant general manager, and Attorneys L. J. Warren and E. White Sutton of Smith, Warren & Sutton, present for the Inter-Island, the commission adjourned to 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The commission wishes to obtain the views of Chairman Charles R. Forbes, who is ill at his home today. Attorney Olson said he desired to request that the new tariff be not put into effect until after Carter had reached Honolulu from Hawaii, which cannot be before Saturday.

To this Attorney Warren replied that it would be more fair to the Inter-Island to allow the company to put the advertised and printed tariff into effect, and if the new rates proved excessive, individual shippers have the right to appeal to the commission for adjustment in each case. "You cannot lower the new rates until after they are in effect, anyway," he added. "You have nothing to act on now."
